

Romance and adventures are the themes of this novel, which takes place during a South Carolina summer. The romance begins while hunting wild boar on horseback through the swamps outside Charleston. The adventures are wild but not as wild as the love affair. All are based on Real people and actual events.